THE CHINA MAIL.

HONGKONG, MONDAY, DEC. 8, 1879.

It would be superfluous to comment upon the text of Lord Carnarvon's masterly State paper, dated Jan. 3rd of last year—published in our Saturday night's issue—as the despatch amply explains itself. Indeed, we do not remember of ever having seen an official document containing less circumlocution or more plainness of speech. There are, however, many things which this celebrated despatch explains outside of its own four corners; and to these we shall devote a few remarks. Lord Carnarvon forcibly explains, clearly accounts for, and unanswerably defends the position assumed by this community against the vicious, one-sided, and crooked policy of H. E. J. Pope Hennessy; and a careful perusal of this document from the late Secretary of State for the Colonies will show that a most faithful and accurate forecast of the future is taken, amounting almost to a prophetic warning. If any justification were necessary for the severe journalistic strictures passed upon Governor Hennessy's public acts, for the bold criticisms upon his measures and utterances which have been passed by the majority of the unofficial members of the Legislative Council, for the outspokenness of the glad to learn that it is only a rumour. One girl about five years of age was unable to make her escape and was burned to death, and a man was taken to hospital supposing to have been seriously injured, but it now appears that with the exception of a very slight sprain to his ankle no further damage has been done.

The confusion that occurs on the breaking out of a fire generally gives opportunities for a considerable amount of pilfering, which is invariably taken advantage of by those classes who have confused notions of the rights of meum and tuum. The fire in East Street on Saturday evening was no exception to this rule, and the result was the apprehension of about a dozen Chinese who were brought before the magistrates this morning, charged with petty thefts of clothing and sundry articles of furniture. On investigating the several cases in this instance however, it appeared that most of the accused had been requested by the owners of the property to assist in removing their household goods, and they were consequently discharged. The arrests were made principally by Sikh policemen who are well known to be thoroughly zealous in the performance of their duty.

Mrs. A. da Silva, the promoter of various Catholic institutions, has lately organized a Society styled "the Society of Holy Infancy," composed of members of both sexes under 14 years, the purpose of which is to accumulate, by different means, a fund to help parents and distressed children. It is a good idea to cause the children to devote a part of their spare time in working for charitable purposes, and we congratulate Mrs. Silva. The day appointed for the inauguration of the Society was yesterday, and accordingly at about half-past two p.m. about a hundred boys and girls assembled at the hall of the Catholic Circle at 8.15, marched in a procession thence to the Cathedral, proceeded through the middle of the Church to near the balustrade of the central altar, where they took their respective seats on some dressed pews prepared for them. Father Burghignoll then in a short and popular discourse pointed out to them the aim and object of the society and having taught them their respective duties as members of the society, presented to each of the members a silver medal of "Our Lady of Lourdes," fastened to a white silk ribbon, the symbol of peace. The children then returned to the Circle Hall, where they were served with cakes and wine. To-night there will be a concert at the Catholic Circle Hall, commencing at 9 p.m.

"NORMA" was selected as the opera to be played on the occasion of Signora Genolini's benefit by the Royal Italian Opera Company, and we were glad to see a full house on Saturday night in the Theatre Royal. We need not criticise the performance as a whole, as that course would be merely to recount the numerous shortcomings of the stage effects so frequently alluded to. Signora Genolini (as Norma) was in good voice, and as the plot revealed itself, applause became warmer, and bouquets strewn the stage, the heroine seemed to catch the enthusiasm, and sang and acted in a most praiseworthy style. Her reception, which we think she fully deserved, must have been very encouraging to this painstaking and hard-working artist. As Polio (the Roman Pro-Consul who first loves and then betrays Norma for the fresh attractions of Adalgisa), Signor Sbriscia appeared to great advantage. In excellent voice, and more natural than hitherto in his movements on the stage, he shared with the prima donna the honours of the evening. Signora Mancini did not look the part of Adalgisa, and as it is really a soprano role, she was altogether at a disadvantage. She, however, conscientiously did her best, and was applauded in the duets and in her interesting passages with Norma. A good word is called for the get-up and demeanour of Orestes, chief of the Druids, (Signor Baggiolo); the other Druids, warriors, &c., were not a success, and the prompting was painful to listen to. The principal characters were, however, honoured with a hearty recall; and so far as they were concerned, the performance was very satisfactory. Signor Sbriscia takes his benefit this evening, when "Faust" will be attempted.

INFANTICIDE was terribly common in the North-West Provinces of India during the year 1878-79. The Inspector General of Police reports that no less than 26 per cent. of the female children born were killed. Among the poorer people a higher value is placed on the boys, and therefore when food is insufficient for all, the girls suffer most, but surely, as the Englishman observes, if the police all over the province had been the least bit more energetic than their Inspector-General says they have been, a very large number of innocent lives might have been saved.

THE London correspondent of the Scotsman says:—"When an article on the threatened torture and enslavement of the children of the late Yakob Beg, the rebel chief of Kashgaria, appeared in the columns of the leading journal some two or three weeks ago, the Chinese Ambassador, instead of communicating with his Government (by post, which might have involved a fatal delay), lost no time in telegraphing the substance of the article to Peking. By this act the Marquis Tseng showed something more than a formal desire to respect public opinion in this country. It does not appear that our Foreign Office has taken any step in the matter."

ACCOUNTS from the seat of war at Muar, to hand by the Straits Times, say that fighting is going on all over the country. Some of the Maharajah's people have moved down to Padang Lebar, also in British territory, and closer to Malacca than Burki Asah. Our Government is certainly improving in non-interference.

MESSRS Stanley and Shorter, the well-known billiard players, played a game of 500 up, the spot stroke barred, at the Town Club, Singapore, on the afternoon of the 26th ult., with the result that after a well-contested game during which some pretty strokes were made, Mr Stanley was the victor by over 80. The Straits Times says:—

Both Mr Stanley and Mr Shorter, whose stay here has been of some duration, have, owing to their general courtesy and agreeable manners, made many friends in Singapore, and the result of their teaching of their pupils has been that amateurs who have availed of it now astonish visitors by the excellence of their play. Messrs Stanley and Shorter will leave on Saturday for Rangoon and Calcutta, in which latter place they will remain during the season.

THE public will agree with the Lieutenant Governor of the Punjab that the last annual report of the Commissioner of Dacca might well have included some further particulars of one very curious occurrence to which he alludes as having taken place during the year under review. It seems that certain speculators imported into the Backergunge district, from Chittagong and Noakhilly, some 2,000 women, who, says the report, "have easily gained husbands in the tracts which were devastated by the cyclone of 1876."

As regards the question of obtaining Chinese labourers for the Brazilian plantations, it seems that the preliminary negotiations in London have been so far successfully advanced that the corvette "Vital de Oliveira," under command of Commodore Arthur Silveira da Motta, son of the democratic Senator whose fine pictures form one of the most interesting of the industrial sights of Rio de Janeiro, will soon leave for the Mediterranean port. On arrival there the Commodore will leave for London, to settle, in co-operation with Dr. Eduardo Callado, some remaining points with the Chinese legation. After these are arranged both gentlemen will embark in the "Vital de Oliveira" and pursue their voyage, via the Suez canal, to China, to negotiate the necessary treaties for the obtaining of leave to engage Chinese labourers in China to work in Brazil. Anglo-Brazilian Times.

THE following notes on the Cabul explosions have been sent to the Lahore Paper by a correspondent in Cabul, under date 17th October:—

The military authorities having deemed it expedient to search the Bala Hissar, for some days past all the kahars of the division have been cleared out of the old buildings. On the 16th, they were engaged in one of the magazines, when at about 1.30 p.m. the whole camp was startled by a terrific explosion which sent clouds of dust into the air that the Bala Hissar was concealed from view for several minutes. It was at first thought that the Afghans were at work, and that the 67th, the Gatling gunners, and the exploring party had been blown to atoms. Doctors and doxies were soon on the spot. When the dust cleared away, it was seen that the explosion had occurred in the old part of the Bala Hissar, that, namely, which lies on a hill immediately above the more modern part, where our troops were located. All were ordered to clear out at once: not a moment too soon, for another explosion, louder, longer, but less destructive than the first, immediately "rent the air." Our correspondent was informed on what he considered good authority that the first explosion had occurred in consequence of the carelessness of a kahar, who was actually allowed to smoke his hubble-bubble on that very dangerous spot, while the search was going on.

On board the Dneal line steamer Duke of Devonshire, London to Colombo, a new way of killing time at sea was established; a description of the first walking match we have heard of as occurring on board ship may be of interest:—

During the ship's passage from the Red Sea to Colombo, with a view of encouraging exercise amongst the gentlemen passengers, it was determined to hold a six days' walking match, which commenced at 6 o'clock on Monday morning, the 3rd instant. An entrance fee of 2s 6d formed a prize fund, and punctually to the time the men were on the track. The first day's walking closed with Mr. Marshall of Ceylon, having accomplished over 35 miles, with Mr. Wheatley of Calcutta, second, with 26½ miles. These enthusiasts, however, rapidly felt the effects of deck walking, in the shape of heavy blisters and stiffness, and had to give way to the better calculation of those who took things more easily. The course, which was kept clear of all impediments by the kind direction of Capt. Turner, was from the forecastle ladder to the stern and back, each return counting one lap. On Saturday, the 8th instant, at 5.30, there were only two gentlemen upon the track, Mr. Goodwin (Ceylon) and Mr. J. Weir (Gochar). These gentlemen, who were most indomitable in their exertions to outdo one another, learnt that it was the decision of either not to leave the track while one remained; they were therefore advised to withdraw, and gladly availed themselves of the suggestion. At 8 p.m., according to the rules drawn up, Captain Turner proceeded to read out the scores, which were as follows:—

1. Mr. Goodwin ... 149½ miles
2. " J. Weir ... 147½ "
3. " H. Marshall ... 126 "
4. " L. Macgregor ... 69½ "
5. Mr. Wheatley ... 36½ "
and nine other competitors for smaller scores. Mr. W. E. B. Jefferson, Calcutta, officials as referees, and carefully watched the proceedings to a pleasant termination. We learn that such was the interest manifested in the event, that the winner was carried kicking up and down deck, preceded by Mr. Trotman, the great musician of the voyage, playing on the violin. "See the conquering hero come," and at the farewell dinner given by Captain Turner to the passengers on the 11th instant, the first toast after Her Majesty the Queen was "The victor of the walking match." We are pleased to learn that all the competitors are in perfect health and betrayed a great desire to land and exhibit further walking powers at Colombo.

THE TEMPERANCE HALL.

The old premises in Stanley Street have been vacated and larger and more convenient premises in Fletcher's Buildings, Queen's Road, secured, where it is hoped a yet more extended field of usefulness may be found for the operation of this admirable public institution. The Hall has now been nearly four years in existence, during which period it has been nearly self-supporting and has been much appreciated by the class for which it was established; chiefly seafaring men. The new premises are now well furnished and suitable in every respect for its purpose,—to provide a pleasant resort, amusement, a meal or a bed for its changing inmates. The cost of furniture, gas and other necessary fittings, the considerable expense caused by removing &c., have exceeded the amount of donations received from the public originally—about $1,200—and the Committee of Management ask again for assistance after so long a time and trust that their appeal will be generously responded to. It is estimated that $1000 would put the Hall well on its feet, and able in the future to make its own way as a permanent and useful institution. Donations may be sent to the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation for the credit of the Temperance Hall, or to Messrs Lane Crawford & Co., or to the Hon. Treasurer, Mr. H. W. Davis. We trust that this appeal will not be made in vain. There can be no doubt as to the great and good work the Hall is doing. It provides innocent amusement for a class of men who are besieged by battalions of temptations in their visit to this port, which yielded to bring ruin and disgrace, moral and physical, on them and their families. We have the utmost confidence that the community will not give such an institution as this the cold-shoulder. We may add that an opening Concert will be given in the new premises on the 18th, the programme for which promises well.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL."
December 8.
Sir,—It may interest Lord Carnarvon to know that I read on Saturday night his able despatch of 8th January 1878, and that I have been drinking his health, off and on, ever since. W.

SUPREME COURT.

(Before His Lordship the Chief Justice, Sir John Smale and special Jury.)

Monday, Dec. 8th.

THE $17,000 CASE.

This case has occupied the Court all day and is not finished when we go to press. The examination of the young man was concluded, and then the witness to the notes, the father, and a relative who resides in the family house of the latter. Their evidence was merely a repetition of that given before the Police Court. The evidence being finished the Court adjourned till tomorrow, when the addresses to the Jury will be heard.

Police Intelligence.

(Before the Hon. C. B. Plunket.)

Monday, Dec. 8th.

DRUNK AND INCAPABLE.

Charles Martin, 44, of Chili, a seaman unemployed, was fined $1 or two days' imprisonment for being drunk and incapable in the public streets on the evening of the 7th instant.

John Ovedon, 26, of Holland, a seaman unemployed, was also charged with being drunk and disorderly yesterday evening, and with damaging two baskets of oranges the property of a hawker; he was sentenced to pay a fine of $1, and 50 cents amends for the damage to the oranges, or to suffer three days' imprisonment.

BREACH OF THE OPIUM ORDINANCE.

Chan Shing, Kiu, 27, a student, was charged with being in possession of a quantity of prepared opium contrary to the opium ordinance 1855 and 1879.

A. dos Santos, manager for the Opium Farmer, saw defendant land on the Fraya from a passage boat at 8 o'clock this morning. On searching his luggage four boxes of prepared opium were found in his small pillow box.

Defendant said he was a schoolmaster in Hong Shan and only arrived in the Colony this morning. He had never been here before and did not know he was doing wrong.

Fined $25, in default one month's imprisonment, the opium to be confiscated.

(Before C. V. Creagh, Esq.)

To Fak Hing, 38, and Wong Chu Ho, 34, supercargoes, appeared on charge of being in possession of a quantity of prepared opium, contrary to the opium ordinance 1855 and 1879.

La Fak Sing, an ex-convict officer, saw defendant land from one of Messrs Douglas Laprak & Co.'s steamers yesterday morning. They looked like opium smokers, and on examining their pillow boxes three pots were found in first defendant's box and one in that of the second. Both defendants said they had never been in Hongkong before, and were not aware that they were breaking the law. The opium they had was for their own use.

Complainant recalled, said that there is a notice posted up in the Chinese quarters on board the steamer, warning them of the penalties for introducing opium into the Colony. The notice is in Chinese. First defendant was fined $50, or twenty-one days' imprisonment; the second fined $10, or seven days' imprisonment.

FOOCHOW.

(Herald, Nov. 27.)

The Revd. W. W. Hawkins, for several years past British Chaplain at this port, will preach his farewell sermon at the Morning Service on Sunday next. Mr Hawkins has during a comparatively short residence in Foochow gained the respect and good-will of many members of the foreign community, including those who though not in communion with the Anglican Church have nevertheless admired his liberality of thought and action.

The late extraordinary excitement on the Foochow Tea Market seems to have almost completely subsided, and demand appears to be once more regulated by some regard to the normal conditions of trade. As we remarked a few weeks ago, the season was too far advanced to admit of much mischief being done. But it is only fair to add that the tea men have responded, beyond the most sanguine predictions, to the late sudden and unexpected call on their producing power; and that they have demonstrated their readiness at any future time to bring forward sufficient common sense to meet the most inordinate and reckless inquiry for that delectable addition to the free-born Briton's cheap breakfast table.

We hear that a quantity of opium was seized last week on the river between Pagoda Anchorage and the Foreign Settlement, by a foreign employé in the Maritime Customs—lately arrived from one of the coast ports. The officer in question had taken passage in a sampan, at the bow of which he noticed a box apparently containing ordinary luggage of some kind. When about half-way to the Settlement the sampan men suddenly ceased rowing, and a suspicious-looking native boat, pulled by a number of men, was observed to be creeping up. The foreigner inquired as to the object of these proceedings and was told that the boxes belonged to the men in the pursuing boat. He not unnaturally argued that there was something wrong, and, seizing the box, drew a revolver, at the same time ordering the sampan men to make the best of their way to Foochow and to inform the men in the other boat that if they attempted any further interference he would fire upon them. The box was found to contain not ordinary passenger's luggage, but opium!

SHANGHAI.

(N. O. Daily News.)

The United States flagship Richmond steamed out of port yesterday (2nd), shortly after noon, bound for Foochow and the Southern ports. Passing the German corvette Louise her band played a lively German air, and, hearing H.M.'s Madeira, the tune was changed to "God save the Queen," while opposite the U.S. Consulate and the Monocacy an American air was played. While the Richmond has been in port her officers and crew have fraternised extensively with the community and have made for themselves a good name, while her band has been one of the main attractions at several of our amusements. Her return will be looked forward to with interest.—The U.S. gunboat Alert left on the previous day, bound for Yokohama.

We understand that M. E. J. Grellet, lithographer and photographer of the Minkin Road, has been placed under arrest by an order of the French Consul-General, to await proceedings under his bankruptcy.

(Temperance Union.)

In the N. O. Daily News, for Friday a.m., was an appeal for clothing for the crew of the Condor. The manager of the Temperance Hall says, in response to that appeal, clothing was sent in to a considerable quantity before 9 o'clock a.m., thus showing the sympathy of the community to be quickly aroused, and to a purpose. We are requested to return the thanks of the recipients for the kindness shown them. We believe no one in real need ever appeals to this community in vain.

A friend who has just visited the North and had an interview with the Viceroy, has become possessed of a copy of a document which gives three reasons why the authorities at Peking could not allow a railroad to be constructed from the coal mines to Tientsin. Our readers can judge for themselves of the weight which ought to be given to these reasons:—

1st.—Difficulties in the construction itself supposed to be insurmountable by engineers.

2nd.—Objections on the part of the people who live along the proposed route.

3rd.—(Let it be written in capitals, and impressed upon the barbarian mind.)

THE FENG-SHUI WOULD BE DISTURBED. The document goes on to say that while perforce difficulties 1 and 2 might be overcome, difficulty No. 3 is insuperable. So there is no railroad.

The gentleman who kindly related the above to us said that while on the way from Peking to Kalgan and noticing the loads borne by beasts of burden, he made an estimate of the comparative facility of cars and camels or mules. He says that it will require 30,000 beasts of burden to do the work of one freight train. As the rule seems to be to allow one man to each animal, we thus have 30,000 men and 30,000 animals doing the same amount of work in transporting cargo, that one train of cars could accomplish. Feng-shui keeps the camels at work and keeps out the cars.

YOKOHAMA.

(Gazette.)

No confirmations have been received from Shanghai of the alarming announcement made about three weeks since in the North-China Daily News about impending hostilities between China and Japan. To the best of our belief all danger, for the present, is over, and better counsels may have prevailed. Neither China nor Japan are able to go to war with each other. Neither has a fleet, nor transport service, nor military means to carry on any but purely defensive warlike operations. Japan cannot attack China, because the transport service required would be contemptible in quality, and it is a question whether the Japanese fleet in its totality is more than able to cope with the four Chinese squadrons. There is no reserve or surplusage for purposes of convoy, or for protecting landing places for troops.

China is just as feeble for offence as Japan is, and the Chinese land forces are without tactical organization, or commissariat, or medical, or scientific services.

Further, belligerent rights will only be given by foreign powers to combatants able to carry on war according to rules; so that partial or irregular blockades, or privateering raids, would quickly bring about their own punishment.

The China rulers are said to be quite aware of their militant deficiencies and may be disposed to pocket the affront of the Lochow if some reasonable mode of retreat is made. As foreign powers are greatly interested in the preservation of peace—the impudent insinuation of the Japan Weekly Mail of the 8th inst. notwithstanding—some advances might with advantage be made on either side, and perhaps, in a short time the distrust and aversion which now exists may disappear, or at least into amicable relations between the two estranged empires.

The estimated cost to the Japanese Government of its share in the Melbourne exhibition to take place next year is set down at $4,015 yen.

THE WAVERLEY BALL AT SHANGHAI.

The St. Andrews' Society for the first time last year substituted a Ball for their annual dinner, and on this occasion they decided upon having a Fancy Dress Ball, with costumes selected from characters in the Waverley Novels. This affords room for a very varied selection of costumes, and resulted in a very picturesque and animated scene. The Ball was held at the Club, which was decorated very handsomely and thoroughly for the occasion. The well-known full-length portrait of St. Andrew, the Patron Saint of Scotland, painted by Chalmers, the Titian of the East, for Messrs. Jardine Matheson & Co., was placed in a conspicuous position, and the Saint looks as stern and wild as ever, and hardly older. The shields of 24 Scottish clans have been procured from home by the Society and were used in the adornment of the rooms, and flags and evergreens plentifully added. The Band of the U. S. S. Richmond, and the Town Band little covering they possess, and left stiff and stark before their habitations to excite the pity of passers by to bury them, falling which they are laid in "boxes" (for Chinese only permit the word Tsuan-P'ing to be used for the respectable black receptacle) sent by the philanthropists of the city, and interred to the depth of the coffin with a little earth thrown over them. What follows is too disgusting to be described; but the consequence of so superficial a burial is obvious to those who have been in China for any length of time. In most of the other ports, we recognize among the mendicants some who have been in the trade for years. Here it is different; one does not see for two consecutive winters the same "faces," but, notwithstanding, their almost ephemeral existence, their class is always full, being constantly recruited by the trackers of Szechuen boats, whose few cash are principally spent in the opium dens in which this place abounds; and so strong is their craving for the drug, that often when in the lowest stage of starvation, they will forego the morsel they might buy with their few cash for the opium pipe.

It might be a difficult task to ascertain the number of opium-smoking resorts, there are in this port; and but a melancholy recompense to discover that they form a large percentage of the total number of dwellings. No foreign opium is imported; yet every sign of the dens informs the public that the best foreign and Kwangtung opium is kept there. Not in a single instance have I seen it notified that the Szechuen produce is for sale. The reason must be either simply puffing to draw custom, or perhaps the survival of some prohibition when the authorities tried to ignore the growth of the poppy within their jurisdiction.—Courier Cor.

PEKING.

Nov. 24.

It will not surprise you to hear that the naval tournament ended in a fizzle.

It was found advisable not to attempt the Torpedo Exhibition, so Li Hung-chang had to content himself with the inspection of the gunboats inside the river, and in witnessing the performance of certain evolutions outside the bar; it appears that a fresh breeze delayed these manoeuvres at first, but this circumstance had a contrary effect in accelerating manoeuvres of a somewhat different nature amongst the officers of the Viceroy's suite.

The Viceroy is reported to be so pleased with his purchase, that the Greek alphabet is to be exhausted forthwith in furnishing names for additional gunboats.

The entire gunboat fleet, it is now said, will winter at Tientsin, the officers and crews of the four new boats are to be paid off on the 30th, with the exception of a select few, and on the 1st December, the English flag, under which they came from England, will be exchanged for that of the dragon throne. Mr. Robert Hart, the Inspector-General of Customs, proceeds to Tientsin to see this completed.

An accomplished German military officer has been appointed adjutant to the Viceroy. Mr. Tong King Sing, after a lengthened inspection of the mining district in which the works are being undertaken, is expected to return to Tientsin in a few days.—Courier Cor.

were both in attendance, and a Highland pipe came from Hongkong for the occasion.

There were only 35 ladies present, but a much larger number of gentlemen. The costumes were remarkable for their brilliancy and correctness. Amongst the ladies were especially noticed the Fair Maid of Perth, Mrs. Roberts; Amy Roberts, Mrs. R. Mackenzie, and several Earls of Leicester; but Tressilian seemed to be rather the favourite. Mrs. Bidwell, as Zarah, in Peveril of the Peak, was dressed in a lovely Greek costume, in tunics of three different shades of cerise; Mrs. Drummond, as Queen Elizabeth, who looked the part well; Mrs. Percival, as Helen Macgregor; Mrs. Holwill, as Luckie Blackie, the fisherman's wife in the Antiquary; Miss Percival, as Helen Douglas, dressed in white with a tartan scarf. Amongst the gentlemen, Mr. Macgregor's was the most off-dutty character, as Hercules, the Anglo-Saxon, chief of the Varangian guard of the Emperor Constantine, of Constantinople; the dress consisted of a purple velvet tunic, with a silver breastplate, bare arms and gold bracelets, a leopard's skin hanging from the shoulders behind, armed with a battle-axe and hangar, the head-dress a brass helmet and plume, blonde moustache and curls falling to the shoulder; barelegged, with sandals. Mr. Silva was very appropriately and handsomely dressed as Varney, in dark velvet doublet and trunk hose, slashed with white, cap with white feather. Mr. Allan, as James Fitz James, the Knight of Snowdon, the King of Scotland in disguise, in a green hunting dress, with velvet cap and leather, the fitting horse, a rapier and dagger. This character comes from the Lady of the Lake. Mr. Robert Mackenzie, as Dandie Dimont, was accompanied by an appropriate torrier. Mr. Glass appeared as Lockett, and he was surrounded by several of his merry men. Mr. Bidwell was perfectly well disguised as Fair Tuck.—Mercury.
